NODA Schooling Show Series To Resume in June!

A Message From Danielle O'Donnell,
NODA President

NODA is excited to announce that a new Schooling Show Manager has been selected and the 2023 Schooling Show Series is moving full steam ahead with preparation for our June show at Rocky River. Please help spread the news!

It is with much relief and wonderful anticipation that we welcome Mallory McMaster as NODA's newest Board member and Manager of our Schooling Show Series! Mallory has successfully managed and produced events, large and small, through her marketing and communications firm, The Fairmount Group. She grew up with horses and a family who believed in community service which included the managing of many horse shows. This foundation has never left Mallory's heart and now she is excited to combine her business and her love of horses and community by taking on the management of our schooling show series.

In addition, our Schooling Show Secretary, Hannah Mandell, who was engaged last fall has been diving head first into her role as our show secretary and is looking forward to working with Mallory.

I would like to thank Patty Keim and Fran Cverna, who sat with me on the Ad Hoc Schooling Show Manager Search Committee, for dedicating so much time, thoughtful evaluation, and honest feedback toward this endeavor. And thank you to Hannah Mandell for making time to sit in on the interviews and offering valuable feedback in the evaluation process. We were fortunate to have several applicants but scheduling and conducting thorough interviews in such a short window of time was a challenge!

Dear NODA 2023 Dressage and 2023 Dressage Encore Volunteers,

As the first timer at being the Recognized Volunteer Coordinator, I must admit that I was more than nervous, making sure all the positions were filled and that the show would go on as planned.

My stress and fears quickly diminished when so many people signed up early to help at the show. Even when the show was going on, many people asked if I needed help and would be available if or when I needed someone. I cannot put into words how thankful I am to all the people that stepped up to volunteer on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. Sincere appreciation to the many of you who did double and triple shifts to make sure all the positions were covered. Because of all the volunteers, the shows went on!!! THANK YOU TO ALL!!!

The show committee sends a very special thank you to our volunteers who have offered your time to make 2023 another outstanding year.

The Hidden Struggles of the Dressage Industry:

Behind the scenes of striving for perfection

By Ashley Rand Torres, A.R.T. Dressage

In the spotlight of competition arenas, riders present polished performances that showcase their hours of practice and tireless efforts. But what you may not see is the countless hours of training, the setbacks, and the quiet battles that shape their journey. Dressage demands an exceptional level of skill, precision, and partnership between horse and rider. Achieving that level of harmony is an ongoing process that requires an unwavering commitment.

Behind every impeccable ride, there are countless moments of self-doubt, frustration, and even tears. Riders face the pressure of constantly pushing their limits, refining their techniques, and developing a deep bond with their equine partners. The journey towards mastery is paved with setbacks, missed steps, and disappointments. It takes unwavering determination and resilience to overcome these hurdles and continue striving for excellence.

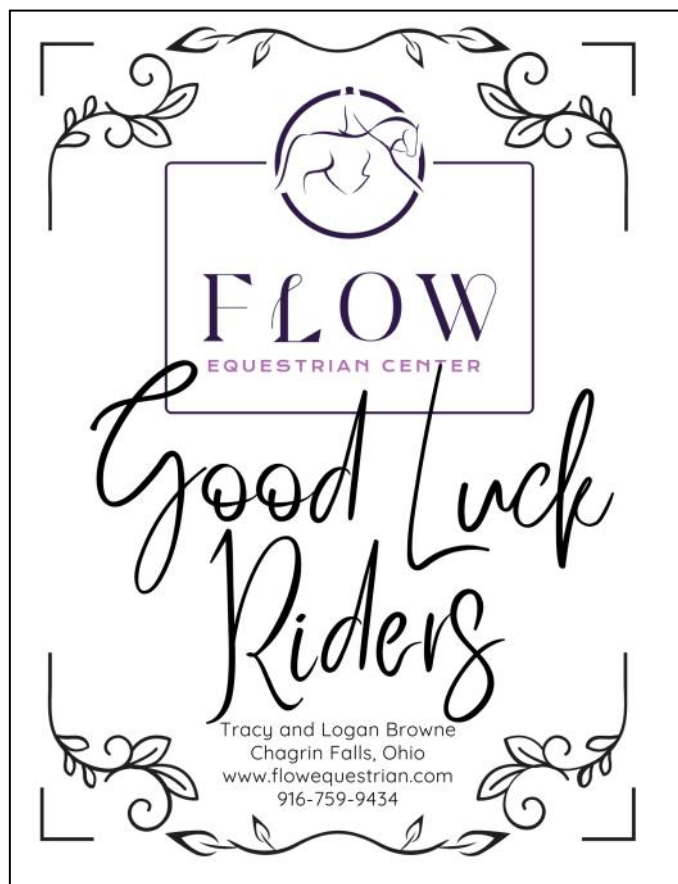

What makes the dressage industry particularly challenging is the pursuit of perfection. Riders strive for that elusive moment where horse and rider move as one, seemingly effortlessly. But achieving this level of synchronization is an arduous task. Countless hours are spent practicing transitions, perfecting movements, and honing the rider's seat and aids. The process can be mentally and physically demanding, pushing riders to their limits both emotionally and physically.

The external image portrayed by successful dressage riders often emphasizes their achievements, leaving little room to discuss the struggles and losses along the way. But it's essential to remember that no rider is exempt from setbacks and failures. Even the most accomplished equestrians face their fair share of challenges. Behind the scenes, they fight battles against self-doubt, setbacks, and moments of vulnerability.

By acknowledging the hidden struggles within the dressage industry, we can foster a more compassionate and supportive community. Sharing stories of resilience and perseverance can inspire others to keep going despite the hardships they may encounter. Behind every victory, there are untold stories of struggle, persistence, and personal growth.

So, the next time you witness a breathtaking dressage performance, remember that behind that moment lies a journey of dedication and determination. Let us celebrate not only the victories but also the countless efforts, sacrifices, and unseen battles that shape the world of dressage. And let us support one another, recognizing that even in the pursuit of greatness, we all face challenges along the way.
